Stanford Hopkins Marine Station

Spring Quarter 2022
Spend spring quarter living and studying at Stanford’s marine station in beautiful Monterey Bay. Emphasis will be on experiential learning, hands-on laboratory sessions, meeting with policy and conservation experts, and outdoor exploration. Earn 14-18 credits and fulfill requirements for your major.

Marine Conservation Biology
BIOHOPK 173H: 2 or 4 units (Fridays)

Ocean Forensics: Ecological, Conservation and Market Data from Environmental DNA
BIOHOPK 159H: 4 units (Thursdays)

People & Nature of Monterey Bay
BIOHOPK 119H: 2 units (Tuesdays)

Intro to Research in Ecology & Ecological Physiology
BIOHOPK 47H: 4 units (Monday/Wednesday mornings)

Experimental Design and Probability
BIOHOPK 174H: 4 units (Monday/Wednesday afternoons)

Questions?
Please contact: abbymc@stanford.edu

Scan here for more info:

Final Application Deadline: FEBRUARY 25